

I do not support the decision to end net neutrality! The possibility that ISPs will alter internet services with bias should not be supported, even if they haven't seen evidence of it happening, yet; especially now that people are expecting it. The past is not reflective of the future when it comes to technology.